SANG IN OPEN AIR

"Carnival of Song" at the Boys' Field.

The result of the public school competition by choruses at the "Contest and Carnival of Song," held at the Boys' Field yesterday afternoon, is being kept secret. It was thought that the result of the competition between the three schools participating therein—Royal, Kaahumanu and Kalanani—would be given out directly after the close of the program, but for some reason it has been withheld. Mrs. Tucker, the successful director of the great chorus of 600 voices, wished it reserved until Monday, for to announce it before all the children on the field might cause some heart-burnings.

The carnival was a great artistic and musical success. The attendance was quite large. The pupils of the three schools filled the grand stand, which was decorated with the colors of the three schools. At the left side, the posts and beams were wrapped with alternate strips of yellow and green bunting, designating the Kalanani school. The central portion was decorated with yellow and red bunting, to designate the Royal school, and the right hand side, devoted to the Kaahumanu school, was decorated with red and green. Each school also had banners. The girls were dressed in white, with the exception of several Chinese girls, who were radiant in Oriental costumes of brilliant colors.

A decorated platform raised in front of the grand stand was used by Mrs. A. B. Tucker, instructor of singing in the public schools, and who directed the entire festival. The Hawaiian Government band under the leadership of Capt. Berger was stationed near the platform.

And what music poured from those six hundred throats. Beautiful and melodious, it was a joy to listen to it all. Each school, under its own musical instructor, sang in competition, two selections for each school. The Kalanani school, the first to compete, sang Mozart's "Gather Spring Powers," and "Violet Hunting from the Trovatore." Kaahumanu school sang Debby's "The Bees," and Minard's "Spring Song." The Royal school, the last of the trio of schools to sing, rendered Piusini's "Spring Song" and Sullivan's "Birds of the Night." Each school sang with surprising excellence, showing long and earnest training. Hearty applause greeted each school as it closed.

Madame Ida Scott Gray again delighted a Honolulu audience by appearing twice upon the platform and singing several beautiful pieces. Although singing in the open air, Madame Scott was equal to the occasion, and received tumultuous applause especially from the 600 children behind her. So great was the applause that finally the singer turned about and sang directly to them, receiving another salvo of applause. She was decorated with pretty leis from each school. It was a great day and Madame Scott contributed largely to its success.

A delightful incident occurred when Alatau Atkinson, the former superintendent of Public Schools, entered the grounds. A little girl from the Royal school, ran down the steps and encircled his neck with a beautiful lei. Mr. Atkinson was chairman of the committee to make the award. Mrs. L. Tenney Peck and Prof. Ingalls were the accompanists.

WALLACE AND LINCOLN.

How the Author of Ben Hur Met the Illinois Future President.

Mary H. Krout, writing in Harper's Weekly, tells how General Lew Wallace met Abraham Lincoln for the first time. It was at a meeting of the members of the Indiana bar at Covington. In relating the circumstance General Wallace said:

"During the session we were in the habit of gathering at the old tavern in the evening, after adjournment. It was a brilliant company, whose talk was well worth hearing. One evening there appeared suddenly in our midst a tall, ungainly man, homely of visage, and rather shabbily dressed. He did not intrude himself, but sat on the outskirts of the company, neither proffering opinions nor taking sides in the controversies that, occasionally, became pretty warm. No one seemed to know anything about him, and when I asked a friend who he was he replied, carelessly, 'Oh, that is some third-rate lawyer; a man named Lincoln from somewhere in Illinois.' One evening, however, after he had been there some time," General Wallace continued, "something moved him to speak, and then he began to talk. We all sat spellbound.

"I have never," General Wallace said, "heard anything that approached it; the logic, the wit, the pertinent anecdote that poured out in an unceasing stream. He talked thus for three solid hours. Some one said, 'Whoever that fellow is, he shall hear from him again some day.' It was my first meeting with Abraham Lincoln," he said, "and the prophecy that we should hear from him again, it must be admitted, was abundantly verified."

The Stratemeyer residence on Piikoi street will be sold at public auction on Saturday noon, May 27th, by the Fisher, Ables Co. Particulars of sale, etc., can be had by calling at Thompson & Clemmons or the auctioneers, corner of Fort and Queen streets.

NOTICE TO CANDIDATES FOR ELECTION TO COUNTY OFFICES.

Notice is hereby given that, whereas it is required by law that candidates for election to county offices, on the Island of Oahu, shall deposit their nominations with the Secretary of the Territory not less than ten days before the day of a special election, it shall be necessary that such nominations be filed in this office not later than five o'clock on the afternoon of Saturday, June 10, 1905.

In order to be eligible to fill any elective office created by the provisions of Act 39 of the Session Laws of 1905, a candidate shall be a citizen of the United States of America, and of the Territory of Hawaii; he shall have been a duly qualified elector of said Territory and of the county in which he shall be elected for at least one year next prior to his election; in addition thereto all members of the Board of Supervisors shall continue to reside within the district from which they may be elected during the period of their incumbency; and in addition to the foregoing qualifications, any person who shall be elected County Attorney must be a duly licensed attorney admitted to practice in the Supreme Court of the Territory of Hawaii and he must further have practiced law in the county, in which he shall be a candidate, for at least one year.

Within the County of Oahu seven members of the Board of Supervisors are to be elected, as follows: Three from the District of Honolulu; One from the District of Ewa; One from the Districts of Waiānae and Waiāluā; One from the Districts of Koolāloa and Koolāupo; and One at large.

Other officers to be elected for the County of Oahu, by the duly qualified electors of said county, are: A Sheriff who shall be ex-officio Coroner, a County Clerk who shall be ex-officio Clerk of the Board of Supervisors, an Auditor, a County Attorney, and a Treasurer.

Within each and every one of the districts of Honolulu, Ewa, Waiānae, Waiāluā, Koolāloa, and Koolāupo, in the County of Oahu, there shall also be elected by the qualified electors thereof one Deputy Sheriff.

Each nomination must be accompanied by a deposit of Twenty-Five ($25.00) Dollars and be signed by not less than twenty-five duly qualified electors of the Representative District in which the election is ordered, and in which the nominee is requested to be a candidate.

Should any candidate desire that his name be printed on the ballot in the Hawaiian as well as in the English language, he must make a special request to that effect at the time of filing his nomination paper.

quest to that effect at the time of filing his nomination paper.

Captain Alfred Rice, a noted owner of fishing craft on the Delaware River, is remarkable for neatness of personal attire, and liked to see his men as natty as possible. One of his employees always seemed to wear a dirty shirt that once had been white. Captain Rice stood the man's slovenliness for a while, but one day he burst out: "Look here, Sam; who the deuce is it that you always get to wear your shirts the first week for you?"

Many people in the suburbs of Boston have required the services of physicians on account of being poisoned by the larvae of the brown-tail moth, now infest the shade and fruit trees throughout Malden. The poisoning from the caterpillar is caused by it dropping from a tree on a person's skin. The fuzz with which the caterpillar is covered enters the pores and makes a painful and irritating rash, which sometimes spreads to all parts of the body.
